Welcome

It’s a big decision to move to a new and often unfamiliar place. But you did it, and we are glad you are here.

You couldn’t have picked a better time to move to Aurora. Great things are taking place here and you are now part of it.

Our residents like living here because they have access to quality education and get more house for the money in a big city with an old-fashioned sense of community.

Once you are settled, we hope you will take time to explore your new city – every single inch of it – because there is something worth celebrating everywhere you go in Aurora.

Living the Colorado lifestyle is easy in Aurora, with almost 100 parks, two reservoirs, renowned public golf courses, and miles upon miles of trails and open space just waiting to be explored. The arts have taken root in Aurora, with award-winning theatre, a history museum with unique exhibitions, nationally recognized public artworks, a symphony orchestra, summer concerts and an arts district that continues to grow.

We welcome residents from all walks of life, and nowhere is this rich diversity more evident than the more than 250 ethnic eateries and markets available to tempt your palate and give you a taste of the world’s cuisine. If shopping is your thing, you won’t run out of options with major shopping centers and local establishments throughout the city, including Stanley Marketplace, Southlands, On Havana Street, Arapahoe Crossing, Town Center at Aurora, Cornerstar and much more.

Economic development is thriving in Aurora, with major job centers like the Anschutz Medical Campus making this a city where residents can fulfill both their personal and professional needs. Light rail and commuter rail lines not only connect us to the metro area, but also connect the metro area to Aurora, because as you will soon find out, Aurora is the place to be.

As a full-service city, we are committed to delivering quality city services at a reasonable cost. In the following pages, you’ll find information about some of the great services we offer, and the best ways to reach us. Every month, along with your water bill, you will receive News Aurora, a newsletter that keeps you up to date on city events, news and announcements. Connect with us on Facebook, Twitter and Instagram @AuroraGov. Members of the social network Nextdoor also receive regular communication from the city. You can also sign up for our weekly e-newsletter at AuroraGov.org/Newsletters and get the latest Aurora news at AuroraTV.org.

Thanks for choosing Aurora and becoming a part of our community. We look forward to serving you.
The Aurora City Council is composed of a full-time mayor and 10 part-time council members. Of those 10 members, six are ward council members, representing one of the six wards in the city. The remaining four council members are elected at large, like the mayor, to represent the entire city.

At AuroraGov.org, you can find out which council member represents you, along with meeting schedules and ways to become involved. City council meetings are held on scheduled Mondays at 7:30 p.m. at the Aurora Municipal Center, 15151 E. Alameda Parkway. The meetings are open to the public and are televised on Aurora’s community television station, KACT-TV cable channel 8 and 880, and streamed at AuroraTV.org.

Aurora has an innovative, diverse and sustainable water system. Beginning as snowmelt in the Rocky Mountains, our water is collected and stored in 12 lakes and reservoirs across the Arkansas, Colorado and South Platte river basins. This water is moved into Aurora through a vast network of tunnels, pipelines and pump stations and is treated at one of our purification facilities. Aurora’s environmentally friendly Prairie Waters system – which reuses our mountain water – enhances and protects our supply, giving us room to meet future demands.
The next time you turn on your faucet and grab an ice cold glass of water, taste it. Really taste it. The water in Aurora is, simply put, some of the best H2O around, and we have won many awards to prove it.

We are the only water provider in the country to have a Phase IV “Excellence in Treatment” designation at three facilities. To receive that, staff had to pass a rigorous evaluation conducted by the American Water Works Association’s Partnership for Safe Drinking Water program. We didn’t pursue that for the bragging rights. We did it because delivering high-quality water to your home is our top priority.

In Colorado, we rely heavily on snowmelt for our water supply, but from year to year, it can be difficult to predict how much will be available. That’s why we’ve developed a diverse water portfolio that allows us to access water from a variety of sources, ensuring that we will have adequate supplies for years to come.

We’re here to help

Aurora Water Cares

Aurora Water Cares is a bill payment assistance program offered to families and individuals struggling financially due to a personal crisis or emergency. This income-qualified program is for Aurora Water customers and provides up to $125 per award. Recipients can receive assistance once per year, with a limit of four awards. Call Aurora Water Cares at 1.833.55WATER (92837) for more information.
Water pollution can be caused by the things that we do every day. When it rains or snows, storm water mixes with trash, antifreeze, motor oil, fertilizer and a host of other chemicals, and as that water flows off sidewalks and streets, it drains to large, underground pipes that carry water directly to the nearest stream or river. The average home can accumulate as much as 100 pounds of chemical waste each year, and all of that is flowing into nearby bodies of water. Please do your part to prevent pollution:

- Use non-toxic products.
- Pick up leaves, grass clippings and pet waste so it doesn’t wash into storm drains.
- Buy only what you need.
- Use a commercial car wash. Commercial car washes collect and filter out soap and oil. The water is then cleaned and recycled.

Dispose of household chemicals responsibly

Each year, we host the Household Chemical Roundup, where Aurora residents can drop off used motor oil, paint and other household chemicals, and we make sure they are responsibly recycled.

At Your Door curbside service

Through the At Your Door program, residents can schedule an appointment to have a limited amount of their household chemicals picked up at their home for $20. Visit WMatYourDoor.com or call 800.449.7587 for information.

Paint recycling

There’s no need to hold on to your old paint. You can take the lid off of your latex paint, add kitty litter, let it dry out and simply throw it away. You can also take old paint to stores participating in the statewide Paintcare program. Go to Paintcare.org for more information.
Caring for your new landscape

Moving into a home and learning how to care for a water-wise landscape can be intimidating, especially if you’ve never had a yard or you’re new to Colorado. Our weather conditions and landscaping techniques can vary greatly from different parts of the country. For new landscaping, consider water-wise materials. We have classes and info to show you how.

New grass installed?

If you’ve moved into a home where grass has recently been installed, be sure to adjust your irrigation clock when you move in and at the beginning of each month. New sod or seed requires more water in the first 20 to 30 days than your lawn will need for the rest of the year. If you don’t adjust your sprinkler system, you’ll be overwatering your grass, which could kill your lawn. Your water bill will also be much higher than necessary.

If you’re installing seed, sod or an automatic sprinkler system, a permit application is required, no matter what time of year.

Permanent conservation measures are in effect year round

You can water the three days a week that work best for you, but watering between 10 a.m. and 6 p.m. is prohibited from May 1 to Sept. 30.

Even when you can water three days a week, your lawn often needs much less water. To ensure a deeper root system, which will protect your lawn from drought, just a couple of days a week is all your turf needs in cooler months such as May and September.

Cycle-and-soak technique

If you have an automatic sprinkler system, it’s best to use the cycle-and-soak technique. For example, if you have pop-up sprinkler heads, rather than watering all at once, divide your total time into three separate water times. Give the water at least an hour to soak in between cycles.

Report water wasting

If you see water issues or water wasting, download the Access Aurora app on your mobile device, use the form at AuroraGov.org/ContactUs or call us at the water conservation hotline number listed below.

Water Conservation • 303.739.7195
Water-wise landscape rebates
Reduce your turf size and add incredible low-water plants that add great color and require less maintenance and water. The process is simple, and we’ll walk you through every step, including creating your landscape design for free.

Indoor water assessments
Our specialists can help you detect leaks, find out where the most water is used and help find ways to save money on your bill.

Toilet rebates
Switch out that old water-guzzling toilet for an ultra-high-efficiency 0.8 (or less) gallons per flush model and get a rebate that practically covers the cost.

Outdoor water assessments and rebates
Our specialists will show you how to water the right amount in the right places and teach you how to get the most from your automatic sprinkler system. If they suggest repairs and you make them, you could be eligible for generous rebates.

Conservation classes
We offer a variety of free outdoor efficiency classes to help you save water, which helps save money.

Aurora Water-wise Garden
The Aurora Water-wise Garden covers six acres in the middle of the city and is a beautiful botanical display of low-water plants and techniques. The garden is located at the northwest corner of Alameda Parkway and Chambers Road and is open daily from dawn until dusk. The garden includes a variety of clearly labeled water-wise plants to help you take home ideas for your own yard.

Let Aurora Water help you save water and money
Animal Services

Whether you want to adopt a pet or license one that’s already part of your family, Animal Services is the one to call with questions about our four-legged friends. City pet licenses are required for all dogs and cats and are available online, at the Aurora Animal Shelter or at many local veterinarians. The Aurora Animal Shelter, 15750 E. 32nd Ave., offers a safe place for lost animals. Animal Protection Officers can pick up an injured or stray animal. Call 303.326.8288 or visit AuroraAnimalShelter.org.

Community Development

We offer a variety of housing-related services for income-qualified individuals. Services include educational seminars and financial assistance for first-time homebuyers and for those facing foreclosure. Financial move-in assistance is available for renters. Commercial and home rehabilitation and emergency repairs are also offered. Call 303.739.7900.

Code Enforcement

Our team works with property owners, renters and businesses to meet the requirements related to the city’s zoning and housing codes for property maintenance. Call 303.739.7280 with questions. To report a code violation, graffiti or other concerns, contact Access Aurora at 303.739.7000 or AuroraGov.org/ContactUs.

Community Relations

Our Community Relations team coordinates the Human Relations & Veterans’ Affairs commissions, ReACT (Responding to Aurora’s Critical Topics), the Martin Luther King Jr. Commemoration, Aurora Key Community Response Team, Aurora Community of Faith and the International Cross-Cultural Network of Aurora. Call 303.739.7280, email communityrel@auroragov.org or visit AuroraGov.org/CommunityRelations.

Neighborhood Liaisons

Neighborhood Liaisons connect neighbors with their local government. Whether you’re trying to find out about a planned development in your area, organize a block party, strengthen your neighborhood organization or just need help finding the right person to talk to at the city, our liaisons can help. Call 303.739.7280 or visit AuroraGov.org/Liaisons.

Aurora Police Department

The Aurora Police Department’s mission is “to make Aurora safer every day.” Achieving this is simply not possible without the support, trust and cooperation of the community. To better serve and engage with our community, we share information and make services available at AuroraPolice.com. Stay connected via Facebook and Instagram (@AuroraCOPD), Twitter (@AuroraPD), YouTube and Nextdoor.com.

Police Area Representative (PAR) Officers

PAR Officers help neighbors focus on problem solving, education and prevention. Each officer works closely with residents and businesses in their area. Officers attend Neighborhood Watch meetings and provide information regarding crime prevention and personal safety for home and work. PAR Officers are also available to offer assistance with key issues and work to improve the quality of life in neighborhoods. Call 303.739.6000.

Aurora Fire Rescue

Aurora Fire Rescue has 16 fire stations (opening Station 17 in 2020 to serve the growing northeast area), is accredited by the Commission on Fire Accreditation International (CFAI) and has a staff of approximately 450 members. The department is a full-service organization that responds to over 45,000 community requests for service each year and is separated into four critical sections: Emergency Operations, Inspections & Investigations, Professional Development & Support, and Management Services. Connect with us via Facebook, Twitter and Instagram (@AuroraFireDpt) and Nextdoor. Learn more at AuroraGov.org/Fire.

Sign up for emergency alerts

The city’s Emergency Alert Program can provide you with critical information in a variety of situations, such as a natural disaster, a man-made disaster, a missing child or a public safety emergency. You can choose to receive messages by phone, email or text. Reverse-911 systems do not work on cellphones, so you must opt in to receive these alerts. Go to AuroraGov.org/AlertAurora.

Emergency sirens

There are more than 50 outdoor warning sirens in Aurora that use a three-minute wailing sound to alert people who are outdoors to come indoors during an emergency situation, such as a tornado. If you hear the siren, get indoors and seek out more information. There is no all-clear siren. Sirens are tested audibly twice a year, in March and November.
